FAQ: Does My Website Use Google Analytics?

Mavilyn Carlos - 2026-07-24 - Local SEO

Yes. When the Kilo team launches your website, we also ensure that you have an active Google Analytics account. It's set up in one of two ways:

- If you provided us with access to your current Google Analytics account during onboarding, we connect your Kilo site to that existing account. You'll have access using the same email you used before you came to Kilo.
- Otherwise, we create a brand new Google Analytics account for you. That account is created with the same primary email address you entered on your build questionnaire.

How Do I Access My Google Analytics Account?

Go to analytics.google.com and log in using the email address described above.

Google itself provides some great resources and free tutorials related to Analytics. We recommend starting with the free beginner course in Google's Analytics Academy on Skillshop.

You can also find the full Google Analytics Help Center here.

If you have questions about accessing Google Analytics for your site, please email our Support team at hello@usekilo.com.

- Tags
- Website